The Truth About Nursing stands with the people of Ukraine

February 27, 2022 – The Truth About Nursing stands in solidarity with the nurses of Ukraine and all those suffering because of the recent Russian invasion. “We are particularly concerned about reports that health care facilities have been attacked,” said Sandy Summers, executive director of the Truth About Nursing. News reports have already indicated that a vicious Russian cluster munition killed civilians at a hospital, and that at least one neonatal ICU had to be relocated to another hospital’s basement because of the threat of bombing. “That must stop,” said Summers. The Truth notes that international law bars targeting or indiscriminately attacking civilians and health facilities.

We note that recent calls to boycott Russian gasoline (Lukoil, ExxonMobil, BP, Shell and Chevron), vodka, sports and other products may offer ways to encourage a faster end to the conflict.

We urge everyone who can to join or support relief efforts for Ukraine. We suggest donations to the following organizations:

ICRC
